Forthcoming Books (Single authored):

- Black Critique : Human Freedom or Emancipation. This book attempts to explicate a genealogy of human freedom and radical thought which does not find its resources primarily in Western thought. Arguing that there is a crisis in Western thought, which has not been resolved either by Heidegger's Dasein nor by contemporary post-structuralism or other forms of critical theory, the book argues for a theorization of ways of life and practices which might posit a new frame for thinking about the human. Drawing from the political, historical, philosophical, literary and artistic resources of Africa and the African Diaspora the volume will seek to map the possible new contours of engaged critical theory. It will also think about the meanings of history and freedom in the contemporary world.
